Evaluation of Accession List of Official Travel Reports on the USSR

The accession list of official travel reports on the USSR would prove useful to I/EE for checking the existence of plants within given areas, to discover easily which areas and facilities had or had not been exploited. If such a list were readily available in the IR for easy scanning when the need arose, then it would seem unnecessary to have the list reproduced to be sent to every branch and division. The reason for this is, that for I/EE infrequent checks are customary and retention of the list is unlikely.
